SENATE AND HOUSE.

Doings of Both Branches of Congress.

APPROPRIATION BILLS PASSED.

The Fortification and the Military Academy Measures Disposed Of, and the Pension Appropriation Taken Up by the Senate—Nothing Done in the House—Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—In the senate yesterday the credentials of Jacob H. Gallinger as a senator from New Hampshire were presented and filed. There were several heated passages between Messrs. Dawes and Cockrell owing to the latter's severe criticism of Mr. Edward Atkinson's views and action on the silver and other economic questions. Mr. Dawes defended Mr. Atkinson as one of his constituents, although he was of the opposite political affiliation. The only effect of the discussion was to amuse the senate. The fortification appropriation bill was then considered and a number of committee amendments were agreed to and the bill was passed. The military academy appropriation bill was reported and passed, and the pension appropriation bill taken up, but went over as unfinished business. The senate then after a brief executive session adjourned.

In the house, J. A. Owenby, the silver pool witness was, by resolution, discharged from the custody of the sergeant-at-arms. In committee of the whole on the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, Mr. McAdoo, of New Jersey, said that he highly approved of the letter of the secretary of the state to Mr. Baker, of New York, on Canadian reciprocity, in which he stated that the contention of the Canadian statesmen that the United States was anxious for partial reciprocity, was untrue. Continuing he said that the United States should have unrestricted trade and commercial union or that it should have no commercial dealings with Canada. The bill was then laid aside with favorable recommendation and the committee proceeded to a consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill. After a long discussion the committee rose and the diplomatic appropriation bill was passed. The house then adjourned.

Treaty on the Slave Trade.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The senate, in secret session yesterday, removed the injunction of secrecy from the treaty entered into at Brussels last July between the United States and a number of other powers, for the suppression of the African slave trade. The treaty has not yet been ratified by the senate, and Secretary Blaine, in his letter transmitting it to the president, says that as the act provides for the deposit of ratifications at Brussels by July 2 next, it is very desirable that the senate should take action during its present session. The act embraces provisions for the repression of the slave trade, and the restrictions of the importation into and the sale in a certain defined zone of the African continent of fire arms, ammunition and spirituous liquors.

The act is signed by the representatives of eighteen nations, including the president of the United States, nearly all of the European sovereigns, and the Shah of Persia, the Sultan of Turkey and the Sultan of Zanzibar. As a means of effecting the abolition of the slave trade, an international bureau is to be established at Zanzibar, as well as strongly occupied posts in Central Africa, the construction of roads and railways and the establishment of steamboats on inland waters, supported by fortified posts.

In the afternoon the senate held another executive session, at which the treaty was read. After a brief discussion it went over without action.

Fate of the Silver Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The complicated state of affairs on the senate silver bill in the house committee on coinage, weights, measures, has caused Senator Stewart to resort to a device sometimes practiced in congress to secure speedy action on a bill. Mr. Stewart has come to the conclusion that the fate of the silver bill is jeopardized in the house coinage committee, and in order to prevent unfavorable action on it, he made a movement to take it out of the hands of that committee by submitting the silver bill as an amendment intended to be proposed to the pension appropriation bill. The amendment was referred to the appropriation committee, and whether the committee agrees to report it favorably or not, Mr. Stewart can call it up in the senate while the pension bill is under discussion. If it should be passed by the senate, and there is every reason to believe it will be, the amendment, as part of the pension bill, will be sent to the house and there it can be called up and voted on as part of the pension bill. Jurisdiction over the bill can in this way be taken from the coinage committee.

Meeting of Farmers' Alliance Presidents.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The presidents of the state organizations of the National Farmers' Alliance met here yesterday, the purpose being to formulate certain measures to be presented to congress and to map out some feasible plan for disseminating the literature of the council for educational purposes. The meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock, with President Polk in the chair, representatives of the following states being present: Virginia, Maryland, South Carolina, North Carolina, Tennessee, Mississippi, Kansas and Pennsylvania. Telegrams were received from other states' presidents, saying they would be represented. The only business transacted was the appointment of a committee on silver legislation.

The Cherokee Outlet Strip.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The house committee on territories yesterday ordered a favorable report on a substitute for the bill introduced in the house by Mr. Mansur providing for opening the Cherokee outlet to settlement. The substitute opens the outlet to settlement under the homestead laws at $1.25 per acre and provides punishment for illegal entry. It will carry an appropriation of seven or eight million dollars.

War Vessel Ordered to Chili.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The navy department has ordered the Pensacola, which is stationed at Montevideo, to proceed to Chili, and the Baltimore, at Toulon, to proceed to the same coast. The orders were issued several days ago, but were not made public until yesterday. There are now no United States men-of-war in Chilean waters, and the recent troubles suggested the propriety of having a naval force there for the protection of American citizens in case of emergency. None of the vessels on the Pacific station were available for this purpose. The Pensacola will have to round Cape Horn, and is not expected to reach Chili for three weeks, while the Baltimore will not reach Chili for about four weeks.

Patent Office Overcrowded.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The annual report of the commissioner of patents sent to congress yesterday makes a strong recommendation for additional room. During the past year, Mr. Mitchell says, the utmost effort and ingenuity have been rendered necessary in order to find space even for copies of patents as they have been produced from week to week. The office has also been compelled to appropriate to other uses one of the rooms occupied by inventors and their attorneys for the purpose of inspecting their pending applications. The rooms occupied by the examiners are rendered unhealthy by overcrowding. For ten years, the commissioner states, congress has been urged to provide more room for the patent office, and in the meantime the amount of work has annually doubled. "The time will soon arrive," the commissioner predicts, "when it will be impossible to discharge the functions of the bureau unless some provision is made to afford relief for its overcrowded condition."

The Indians Under Control.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—A telegram from Gen. Miles, now at Chicago, to the war department, states that the twenty-five Ogallallas and Brule Indians he brought from the west are now at Fort Sheridan, where he intends to keep them for at least six months. "This will," Gen. Miles adds, "avoid their giving any trouble in the spring." He states that all the principal leaders now living of the different tribes of Sioux, are now within the control of the military. This he regards as the best assurance of peace in the future.

Senator Hearst Better.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Senator Hearst passed a comfortable night, and is considered if anything a little better than he was yesterday afternoon.

TOWN MARSHAL IN TROUBLE.

Arrested on a Charge of Exceeding His Authority and Other Crimes.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 5.—A special to The Times from Canton, O., says: Late yesterday afternoon Edward Roberts, marshal of Louisville, this county, who has heretofore borne an unsullied reputation, was arrested upon complaint of Morgan Landin, a well known citizen of that town on a charge of exceeding his authority. Roberts was found in a compromising position with Landin's wife, and when Landin surprised the guilty couple, Roberts arrested him and locked him up in prison on a trumped up charge. Landin regained his freedom and began suit against his wife for divorce, and will supplement his charge against Roberts with one for adultery.

Roberts, it is now learned, has been in the habit of visiting married women in the absence of their husbands, and threatened publicity has set the town by the ears. A resolution to declare the office vacant will probably be made at the next meeting of the town council. At the hearing last night Roberts was bound over to court. He is a married man.

STATE OFFICIALS BLACKMAILED.

An Eastern Woman Playing Havoc at Tacoma, Washington.

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 5.—A story is printed here to the effect that a young and very pretty woman who goes under the name of Mrs. Emma Grey, has been blackmailing state officials and politicians at Olympia. Her plan was to send an intended visitor her card and invite him to call at her apartments. As soon as the man was seated she locked the door and told him she would screen and summon help if money was not forthcoming.

The police made an effort to induce two of the victims to prosecute the woman but they would not do so. She told several persons that her right name was Emma Holman; that she was the daughter of Congressman Holman of Indiana, and has shown letters which would tend to confirm her, but it is believed here that the woman is well connected in the east and that she has got hold of letters addressed to a friend of others from some one by the name of Holman. She came to Olympia about two weeks ago.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Feb. 5.—A dastardly attempt was made Monday night to kill Larkin Smith, mayor of Lula. Some one crept to a window in his residence shortly after midnight and discharged the contents of a double-barreled shot-gun at Smith as he lay in bed. The shot took effect in his legs. His wounds will not prove fatal. There is no clew to the assassin.

Thawed Dynamite.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Feb. 5.—While thawing the large quantity of dynamite yesterday afternoon on Trenton out of the Branch, John Devanny, aged 16 years, and a Hungarian were fatally injured by the explosion which followed.

DOWN IN A MINE.

Seventeen Men Meet Instant Death.

THEIR BODIES UNDER WATER.

Weeks Must Elnapse Before the Mine Can Be Pumped Out and the Dead Bodies Recovered—List of the Victims.

WHITE HAVEN, Pa., Feb. 5.—At 11 o'clock yesterday morning, while Charles Boyle and Patrick Coll, of Leviston, were engaged in drilling a hole in their chamber in No. 10 slope of J. C. Hayden & Company's mine, at Jeausville, they broke into the old No. 8 slope which had been idle for five years; and which had been flooded to the mouth with water. William Brislin, a driver, was close by and he cried out, "Boys, for God's sake, run for your lives or you will be drowned."

In a moment thereafter the water came, and Brislin barely escaped with his life. Besides him, six others escaped. They are: Henry Gibbons, John News, John and Charles Boyle, William Coll and Patrick Coll.

The water rose rapidly, and before any attempt could be made to rescue any of the other workmen the slope, which is 624 feet deep, was flooded to the mouth and they were caught and drowned.

The lost are:

Lawrence Reed, married; has eight children.

Edward Gillisher, married; two children.

James Griffiths, married; one child.

James Ward, married; eight children.

Harry Bull, married; seven children.

Joseph Matskowitz, married; four children.

Barney McCloskey, single.

Patrick Kelly, single.

Jake Wiato, single.

Mike Smith, single.

John Berne, single.

Tom Glik, married; one child.

Tom Tomaskaskay, married; three children.

Joe Astro, single.

Bacco Frinke, single.

Thomas Greko, single.

John Boyle, single.

Samuel Porter, single.

The news of the disaster caused great excitement, and the mouth of the slope was soon thronged with anxious families and relatives of the workmen and others. The scenes when it was positively known who were lost were heart-rending. Wives implored piteously of the miners standing by, who knew only too well the fatal result to save their husbands from the terrors of a watery grave. Little children crying for their papas and relatives praying for the safety of their loved ones. The sorrowing wives, relatives and friends were finally convinced that there was no hope of rescuing any of the men, and were led away from the scene of this new mine horror by sympathetic hands to their homes.

A large force of men was immediately put at work pumping out the water. How long it will take is a question since no definite idea of the volume of water can be ascertained. Some of the miners say it will take four weeks before the bodies can be reached, but others incline to the opinion that it will take much longer.

Brislin, one of the men who escaped, said to a reporter: "I was waiting at the bottom of the slope for a trip to come out. Suddenly I heard a loud noise and thought it was the cars coming out. Then a frightful blast of wind came and knocked me down the gangway. The wind blew my lamp out. I tried to run for the slope, but stumbled and fell. Then John Boyle and John News came running out. News' lamp was burning and by the aid of this we got to the place. The water came pouring after us as we ran. When we got to the slope the light went out. We lost Boyle. We ran as fast as we could and the water came running after us, rising very quickly. In five minutes the water raised 200 yards to the mouth of the slope, the pitch of which is 83 degrees."

Many causes are advanced as to the cause of the great disaster. Some charge it to neglect to notify the workmen of the dangerous proximity of the water, as only a few of the old miners knew of the presence of the great body of water in the old slopes. Even those who knew of it had no idea that the workings were driven as near to the water as they were.

The civil engineer in charge of the Jeausville mines was a man from Pottsville named LaFevre Womesldorf.

ANOTHER SIMILAR ACCIDENT.

Three Men Meet Death in the Second Disaster.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 5.—A cave-in occurred in No. 3 slope at Grand Tunnel, opposite Nanticoke yesterday afternoon. Three men were shut in the mine, and as the place is filled with water, it is supposed they are drowned. The accident occurred in No. 3 colliery, of the Susquehanna Coal company. In an abandoned part of the mine, which was closed, was a great body of water. In the adjoining chamber a number of miners were at work blasting. An unusually heavy charge was fired and thinned the wall, that the heavy volume of water broke its way through.

Some of the miners were given warning and ran for their lives ahead of the rushing flood. Three men, John Riner, Mike Shelank, and William C. Ragle, did not hear the warning in time and were closed in their chambers. The men are all married and leave large families. The subterranean workings covering scores of acres are rapidly filling

RAILROAD WRECKS.

Serious Accident on the Canadian Pacific.

ELEVEN PASSENGERS INJURED.

A Sleeping Car Thrown from a Bridge Sixty Feet High Near the Station of Schreiber on the Lake Superior Section of the Road—Two Men Killed and Four Injured in a Wreck on the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling Road Near Beach City.

MONTREAL, Feb. 5.—A little before noon yesterday, the sleeping car on the through westbound express on the Canadian Pacific was thrown from the track by a broken axle in the forward truck, about one hundred feet east of a trestle bridge near Schreiber, on the Lake Superior section of the road. The car ran half way across the bridge tearing up ties, and was then precipitated over the side and fell fifty or sixty feet to the ground.

There were eleven passengers in the sleeping car, nearly all of whom were more or less injured, but only four seriously. Some of the sleeping car passengers were fortunately in the dining car at the time and escaped injury.

The injured persons are: Mr. Marston, of Winnipeg, seriously injured about the body.

T. S. Higginson, leg broken.

Dr. McLean, injured about the body and head cut, injuries not serious.

G. W. Erb, cut about the head, injury slight.

F. B. McBamee, cut about the head, injuries slight.

Mrs. Dr. Torrence, injured about right shoulder and back.

E. N. Higginbotham, cut about the head and back injured.

E. J. Redmond, cut about the head and right leg injured.

G. W. Smith, bruised and cut, injuries not serious.

Miss Mary Redmond and the sleeping car porter entirely escaped injury. It is not thought that any of the injuries are fatal. A surgeon was on the ground very soon after the accident and another was sent from Port Arthur. Every care is being taken of the injured passengers.

TWO MEN KILLED.

Four More Injured in a Railroad Wreck Near Beach City, Ohio.

CANTON, O., Feb. 4.—A collision occurred on the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling road, near Beach City, fifteen miles south of here, about 4 o'clock yesterday morning. A north bound freight stalled on the curve and a passenger train following crashed into it, the engineer being unable to see the freight. The caboose of the freight was crushed to atoms.

Fireman Layman, who was ill and going to his home in Dayton, was instantly killed. He was in the caboose. Brakeman Roberts was fatally injured. There were four passengers in the caboose, all of whom were seriously injured and one will likely die. The crew of the passenger train saved their lives by jumping. Eight cars were thrown from the track. The property loss will be between $30,000 and $40,000.

SENATORIAL FIGHTS.

The Contests in Illinois and South Dakota Still Unsettled.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 5.—Both houses of the legislature met in joint session at noon, and proceeded to take the fifty-seventh ballot for United States senator. It resulted: Palmer, 101. Cockrell was sick and the Republicans and F. M. B. A. did not vote.

The Alliance members have named to the Republicans three men, any one of whom they are willing to unite with the Republicans to elect. It is thought that the deal is being arranged.

Prospects of a Combine.

PIERRE, S. Dak., Feb. 2.—Balloting for United States senator began at noon, resulting: Moody, Republican, 39; Tripp, Democrat, 28; Campbell, Independent, 53; Melville, Republican, 30. The legislature then adjourned. It is thought the Democrats and Independents will combine on a man in a day or two.

An 8-Year-Old Child Cremated.

MARTINSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 5.—Mary Moore, the 8-year-old daughter of John Moore, of Paragon, was burned alive Tuesday evening. Her clothing caught fire while putting wood in the stove, and in an instant she was enveloped in flames. Her mother was attracted from another room in the house by the screams of her daughter, but of no assistance as she fainted at the sight of her daughter in distress. The latter finally ran to a rain barrel, but it prevented her jumping in and she fell dead by its side.

Hung Up By a Mob.

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Feb. 5.—Monday night a mob of masked men went to a house on the outskirts of this place and took John Moore, colored, to the they hung him to a limb. He was woods. Tying a rope around his neck drawn up several times in an effort to extort a confession as to the whereabouts of some stolen property. Moore protested his innocence and the mob finally released him. He could not identify any one of the party.

Business Buildings Destroyed.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, Feb. 5.—The business portion of Richmond was burned yesterday with a total loss of $30,000, about two-thirds of which is insured. The following concerns were burned out: J. B. Worten & Company, J. W. Whitcomb, E. W. Freeman, Solomon Green, F. G. Nichols, F. W. Powers, Dr. C. W. Jacobs, Patrick Henley, Miss Gleason, Grand Army hall, North Star Lodge, town clerk's office and Jed Barber's house.

CHICAGO CARPENTERS.

It Looks as Though a Big Fight Were Again on Hand—Other Labor News.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Both the journeymen and the master carpenters of this city are getting ready for another big fight in the spring. The journeymen are in secret communication with carpenters' councils in all the large cities of the country for the purpose, it is said, of throwing up breastworks which will prevent the employers from importing labor in case of possible calls, but in reality, it is believed, in order to secure some mutual arrangement by which the movement may be made a National one.

The original demands of the journeymen were for a working day of eight hours, wages by the hour, with a minimum rate of forty cents, overtime to be paid for at time and a half, with double wages for Sunday work, wages to be paid at least every two weeks, and a journeyman to be paid off instantly in case he is discharged, and finally, the signing of the three years' agreement on this basis. The employers practically agreed to all these points except the rate of wages, the minimum rate they would offer being thirty cents.

Agitation Over a Proposed Lockout.

SCOTTSDALE, Pa., Feb. 5.—All the coke region is agitated over the probable lockout and strike next Tuesday. The miners will not agree to the reduction of 10 per cent., which the operators insist upon. The coke region leaders are arousing the workers in all sections. There is a slight possibility of another conference. Coke operators are preparing to draw their ovens. Some 15,000 men are employed about the ovens and mines.

Strike in a Boot Factory.

SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, Mass., Feb. 5.—A strike was ordered yesterday in the boot factory of Gregory & Company, which employs between 400 and 500 men, in support of the demand of the workmen on the newly introduced Copeland treeing machines for sixty cents a case, instead of fifty cents which was offered by the firm. With the exception of the lasters and a few other employees all the operatives stopped work.

Strikers Resume Work.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Feb. 5.—The conductors, switchmen and brakemen on this division of the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago road, who went on a strike Tuesday, received their pay for December yesterday and at once resumed work.

Against the Pinkertons.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 5.—A bill was passed by the house yesterday prohibiting any company or corporation from employing armed forces while a strike is pending.

NELLIE GRIFFIN'S MURDER.

A Frightful Story of an Old Man's Rage Without a Cause.

CHARLOTTE, Mich., Feb. 5.—Further particulars of the murder of 14-year-old Nellie Griffin, near Charlotte, Mich., by Russell Canfield, for which he was sent to the penitentiary for life, show that the detection, arrest and conviction of the old man was secured by The Detroit Daily News, and makes a remarkable story of successful work upon a mysterious news item.

The first clew to the crime was when the body was identified by a Lake Shore conductor as that of a passenger on his train, who was accompanied by an old man. Then the officials of the state public school at Cold Water identified the body as that of Nellie Griffin, who had been adopted a few days previously by an old man giving the name of Hendershot.

Active search was instituted for the old man, and he was located on a farm near Dimondale, where he was employed. His real name was found to be Russell C. Canfield. After being fully identified by the superintendent of the Coldwater school he was arrested and taken to Charlotte. At first he denied all knowledge of the crime, but finally broke down and confessed. He said that upon arriving from Coldwater with the girl he set out through the woods for the farm where he worked. They sat down on a log by the water where the body was found.

"She girl began to cry," he said, "and I threw her on the ground and choked her to death with one hand. She did not struggle or scream. After her death I took off her clothes and threw her into the hole where she was found. I did not outrage the girl, and I have no idea why I killed her. I must have been insane."

The murderer also added that no one was implicated in the crime. Canfield is 55 years old and the age of his victim 14. It is thought that the old man is crazy, for, as far as known, the murder was unprovoked and is one of the most cold-blooded crimes in the history of this state.

A Supply Store Robbed.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 5.—A special from Spartansburg, S. C., says that W. McZimmerman, the store-keeper and agent of the Farmers' Alliance supply store in that city, is said to be short in his accounts from $15,000 to $30,000. One of McZimmerman's plans of operation was to open a store some distance from the regular Alliance store and transfer goods to this establishment, where he sold goods at reduced rates. An investigation of the affairs of the store revealed the rankest sort of management, and startling developments are expected within the next two days.

Run Down by a Grip Car.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 5.—Elmer Clark, superintendent of the Kansas City Cable Railroad company, was run down and killed by a grip car at the Woodward avenue power house yesterday. He was standing in front of a grip car which started to move slowly. Someone attempted to set the brake, but by mistake took hold of the grip lever and tightened the grip on the cable. The car bounded forward and struck Clark on the head, instantly killing him.

EVENING BULLETIN.

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.
ROSSER & McCARTHY,
Proprietors.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1891.

It cost the Government about $2,000,000 to slaughter the few Indians killed a week or two ago. Give the credit (?) to Harrison's administration.

O. G. WIGGINS, of Covington, wants to be Secretary of State if that office is to be filled by popular vote. He will have to quit parting his hair in the middle if he wishes to appeal to the people with any hope of success.

THERE is some talk now of the Tobacco Growers' Association starting a warehouse at Lexington. Perhaps they'll get around to Maysville after awhile. They should bear in mind that Maysville is in the center of the white burley district, which produces from 30,000,000 to 40,000,000 pounds annually.

The Constitutional convention yesterday, in Committee of the Whole, adopted a section fixing the term of Circuit Judges at six years, and making the Judges eligible for re-election. There was a strong fight by some of the members to fix the term at eight years, and make the Judges ineligible for re-election.

There is but little question that the people favor making all Judges ineligible for a second term.

THE Mayor of Lexington has directed the Chief of Police to rigidly enforce the law closing saloons on Sunday. If Lexington's saloons are like Maysville's they have a side entrance or rear door provided for such emergencies. Pass most any coffee house in this city on Sundays, and the rattle of the dice-box, or the talk of parties within can usually be heard. A certain saloon has gone so far as to stick up a sign at its rear entrance, which is on an alley.

Inauguration Day on Sundays.

James Monroe was inaugurated Monday, March 5, 1821; Zachary Taylor was inaugurated Monday, March 5, 1849. The 4th of March coming again on Sunday, it was decided "that to enable the executive to take prompt action in case of insurrection, riot and other causes," Rutherford Hayes was inaugurated privately in the White House Saturday, March 3, at 7 o'clock and five minutes p. m., and publicly Monday, March 5, 1877.

Query: Who acted as President Sunday, March 4, 1849?

"Never Look at the Clock."

It is the little things that give the best insight into a man's character—things which he does involuntarily and when he is off guard. Any man may learn much about himself by taking notice how he is accustomed to spend his odd minutes and his loose change.

For some reason there is no little shrewdness in a saying which is attributed Edison. According to the story a gentleman introduced his son to the famous electrician, and in the course of the conversation suggested that he should give the young fellow a motto for his business career, upon which he was entering.

Edison was silent for a moment, and then said: "Never look at the clock!"

Probably the boy was more or less mystified by this laconic utterance, but he will not be long in the company of clerks or day laborers without discovering that those who take so little interest in their work as to be continually asking what time it is are not the ones who get on in the world.

Success is not for the lazy or indifferent. As some one has said, "The carpenter who stays fifteen minutes after hours to finish a job is working toward a shop of his own."—Louisville Post.

A Card From 'Squire Beasley.

ABERDEEN, O., February 4, 1891.
To all whom it may concern: I do hereby certify that one Richard Thomas Sherlock and a woman by the name of Susan Gater, of Mason County, Ky., were not ever married by me here at Aberdeen. In the month of January, 1891, nor were ever married by me at any other time. If they were ever married here at this place it must have been under some other assumed name. If they were ever married by me they would have a marriage certificate of that fact, as I always give them a certificate of marriage and record the same on my marriage record in all cases.

Hints for Housekeepers.

To clean knives: Cut a small potato, dip it in brick dust and rub them.

Grease may be removed from silk by applying ammonia to the wrong side.

Dipping fish in scalding hot water will cause the scales to come off very easily, but if the fish are to be salted down they must on no account be scalded. You may pour over them vinegar with the same result. Salt fish will soak fresh much quicker in sour milk than in water.

Lamp burners that have become dim and sticky can be renovated by boiling them in strong soda water, using a tin tomato can for this purpose; then scour the burners with sapolin and they will be as good as new.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

For the Farmer

The Ripley Bee reports the sale of one crop of tobacco at 12½ cents.

Horsemen wishing horse and jack bills or circulars of any kind should call at the BULLETIN office and examine cuts and get prices.

Dr. John D. Clardy, of Christian, in an article on the subject of "Sorghum as a Fodder," says: "There is no plant known to us that will produce as much valuable feed to the acre as sorghum. All kinds of stock are fond of it, and, being very nutritious, it supplies a want in our feed demand that nothing else can fully supply. We have used it for a number of years, with a constantly increasing appreciation of its value. Early in the fall it can be cut and fed green to supplement the failing pastures, with little trouble and great advantage to the stock, especially milk cows, enabling them to keep up a steady flow of milk much longer without regular winter feed." Speaking of the cultivation of sorghum, Dr. Clardy says: "The ground should be well prepared by thorough plowing and harrowing, until a fine seed bed is secured. Then take a common wheat drill, stop all the holes except two—the second from either end. Set the drill to sow two bushels to the acre, and it will, through the two open holes, sow one-half bushel to the acre, which will be just right, if the sorghum seed is fairly well cleaned. Just as the seed begins to sprout, and before it begins to appear above ground, harrow with a light smoothing harrow. This secures a clean, fresh bed for the plants to come up in, and they commence to grow at once. After the plants are well up, two or three plowings with an ordinary double-shovel is all the cultivation that will be needed."

WAY UP IN A BALLOON.

HERR WOLFF'S THRILLING EXPERIENCE ON A STORMY DAY.

Ascended to a Height of 8,000 Feet. The Ship Breaks Away During an Attempt to Land—Two Men Are Carried Up Hanging to the Sides.

Herr Maximilian Wolff, the celebrated aeronaut, in his balloon ascension from Cologne, had one of the most frightful experiences recorded in the annals of balloon travel. He dreaded making the voyage at all on such a day, but as an air sailor, like his brother at sea, makes money only while on his ship, he decided to take the risk.

"At 5 o'clock in the afternoon the balloon was ready. The weather was worse and my courage was ebbing fast. I would gladly have given my pay twice over to remain on solid ground; but my reputation was dear to me, and I dared not face the jeers and insults of the vast crowd assembled to see me off. Two gentlemen, Herr S— and Herr D—, from Cologne, were to accompany me.

"At half past 5 I gave the signal 'Los!' and our ascent began favorably. Our course was southwest to northeast, and in one minute we had risen 5,000 feet. The temperature was cool. Behind us lay Cologne in a thick fog and a gathering thunderstorm. Our 'Stollwerck' soared continually higher in a fog that grew every moment more dense. The aneroid barometer showed a height of eight thousand feet. The basket swung like a pendulum.

A HORRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

"At last I spied a clearing on the mountain side, which seemed our best chance for alighting. I pulled the check, dropped anchor, and we sank gently toward the ground. The violent wind knocked us about for a time, but fortunately the anchor held. We had been seen, and people were hurrying to the spot. The strength of eight men was barely enough to hold my struggling, pitching ship long enough for my companions, S— and D—, to clamber out.

"So far all was well. Then, without a moment's warning, a violent gust, like a whirlwind, broke over us; we were tossed wildly to and fro, but by straining every muscle managed to hold down the 'Stollwerck.' Still in the balloon, I threw out a rope, and with great difficulty tied it to a tree. Then came a violent wrench, and I fell over backward in the basket. As I sprang to my feet I found myself soaring cloud high once more, and to my horror two men were clinging to the outer edge of the basket!

"I seized upon one and tried with all my strength to drag him in. He was a peasant of the neighborhood, a good hearted, sturdy young fellow, who had worked with a will to quiet the wild plunging of the 'Stollwerck,' as she dragged at her anchor down in the clearing. But it was of no avail; my arms were as weak as a woman's, and the poor fellow's strength was spent. With a wild, despairing look straight in my eyes he let go, and I heard his body strike upon the ground with horrible distinctness.

"My heart stood still, my head swam, and I should have sunk down indifferent to my fate had it not been for the cries of poor S—, my companion, clinging to the other side of the railing. I tried to rescue my friend from his frightful position, but alone I could not drag him over the edge of the basket, and he was powerless to help himself.

HANGING IN THE AIR.

"It was an awful moment. Already the clouds began to float below us; we must have been at least 9,000 feet high; I leaned out so far that it seemed every instant as if I must lose my balance, and seized S—'s coat with my teeth. I managed to grasp a rope, with which I hoped to tie him fast. Those minutes, not knowing whether I could succeed or not, were like an eternity.

"At last the rope slipped under his arms. I drew it taut, and to my indescribable relief it held; but the danger was postponed for a few brief moments only. If S— lost consciousness he would be sure to drop in spite of the rope.

"It was life or death to the poor wretch, according as our descent was rapid or slow. I pulled the check and we sank noticeably, but alas! into the thick of a thunder cloud. The balloon spun round like a top. It halted, thundered and lightened, as if hell itself had broken loose. We swung to and fro with frightful violence. I fell on my face with a roaring in my ears like the screams of a thousand angry fiends. But I dared not give way.

"S—, I called frantically, 'hold on, for God's sake!'

"It's all over with me—the rope is slipping, my poor friend gasped in reply.

"Pull yourself together! In a moment more we will touch ground, I screamed hoarsely.

"But the nearer we came to earth the more wildly we pitched to and fro.

"Don't let go the first moment you touch the ground or we are both lost, I cried to S—.

"We skimmed over a house and barn—cracking, snapping, jerking. A rent yawned above my head. We flew onward, swift as a feather before the wind.

"Let go, S—, I panted; let go, and jump for your life—to one side, away from the anchor."

ALL HANDS SAVED.

"Not a moment too soon he obeyed me. The balloon, lighter by 190 pounds, swept me up again to the clouds. With all my remaining strength I laid hold of the check, not letting go till the anchor caught in a tree.

"A second's pause only, and the giant tree was jerked up by the roots. With the force of the wrench the basket was so turned that I hung head downward. The anchor gripped a second tree; again a moment's rest, and that tree was also torn from its bed. Knocked about like a ball, I at last took my fate into my own hands. I jumped into the top of an oak and slid through its branches down to the blessed ground.

"I had landed at the 'Neuen Hause,' near Cleves, and straightway set the whole neighborhood on the search for poor S—, who must be lying somewhere terribly injured, if not dead. None of my emissaries was able to find him.

"Broken and bruised in mind and body I set out for the station Overath. Suddenly from a side road we saw a troop of men approaching. 'They're bringing somebody this way' was called from mouth to mouth. I dashed forward, and a moment later S— and I were in each other's arms, sobbing like a pair of children.

A week after the foregoing events a notice appeared in a Cologne newspaper, which must have been balm to Herr Wolff's troubled soul. The paragraph stated that the man who fell from the balloon Stollwerck on June 6 had by amazing good luck suffered no serious injury, and was well as ever.—Youth's Companion.

Mr. Geo. C. Walker, Cincinnati, O.—My Dear Friend: I am just in receipt of yours enclosing the I. N. Walker Company check for $1,235.43, for proceeds of sale of eleven hogheads of tobacco, for which accept my thanks. To say that I am delighted does not do the subject justice. It went so far beyond my fondest expectations that I am really dazed. Yet when I entrusted this tobacco to you, personally I felt sure you would see me out, which I am glad to say you have done to my utmost satisfaction, and for which I will always hold you in grateful remembrance.

I have six or seven hogheads which I will ship you as soon as I can get it ready—in probably ten days. I will use every effort in my power to get other parties to ship to the Walker.

With kind regards to your father, I am very truly your friend, (dtld) T. B. HARRISON.

BOURBON FARM FOR SALE—Seventy acres, nearly all in grass two years, half mile of Millersburg, with good large dwelling and plenty of water; $50 per acre—half cash, balance in one and two years. Address V. K. Shipp, Paris, Ky. 5d2t

MR. THOMAS GANTLEY and Miss Anna Byron were married last evening at 6 o'clock at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Patrick Byron, near Mayslick, by Father Hickey. The groom is a successful young farmer, living near Lewisburg.

THE Lexington Transcript says: "The engagement of Miss Lella Keene and Roddy Patterson, which has been announced in several papers, is denied by both the interested parties. The rumor originated in the society columns of a Louisville paper."

J. T. ORT, of Concord, had a bill of $16.70 against Mrs. S. Purcell, and when he saw two hogsheds of tobacco belonging to her loaded on the Henry M. Stanley, bound for Cincinnati, he followed, and attached the weed before Squire Gass. Mrs. Purcell settled the case by paying up.

DR. SAMUEL PANGBURN, who a few weeks ago opened up a doctor's office in Maysville, will remove his family from the West to the Kerr farm about a mile from town in a few weeks. Mrs. Pangburn and her boys will have charge of the farm, while the doctor will continue his practice at Maysville.—Ripley Bee.

"THE Stowaway" is accorded the palm of superiority for realistic stage effects. It is said in no other modern melodrama is there such thrilling and naturalistic situations, such startling mechanical devices, and such vivid realism in its pictorial displays as are revealed in this masterful production. At opera house to-morrow night.

"THE Stowaway" is presented by a company of splendid dramatic capacity, including in its ranks such prominent players as Messrs. Mark Lynch, Walter Edwards, Harry Booker, Jo Paige Smith, Wm. McVay, R. J. Moye, Louis Lee, Howard Barnes and Misses Maud Edna Hall, Libbie Kirke, Madge Carr and Margaret Robinson. This will be the attraction at the opera house to-morrow night.

NAT PRICE, a colored man of Ripley, has sued W. H. Kinkead, a prominent citizen of that place, for $5,000 damages for defamation of character. The Bee says: "It seems that Mr. Kinkead had a lot of chickens stolen lately, and hearing from pretty good authority that Price was the fellow who took them, had him arrested. But on coming to trial, the witnesses Mr. Kinkead depended upon failed him, and Price was acquitted. Now he wants damages in the sum mentioned. The suit excites much indignation among those who know the parties."

A FELLOW who was crazy drunk raised a terrible racket down on Short street and on Second between Wall and Short night before last. He was pounding on the doors of residences, threatening to shoot any one who would dare to venture out and was making the air resound with foul language. The residents of the neighborhood were all aroused. "Where is the Deputy Marshal?" was the inquiry. None put in an appearance, and a citizen had to come up to Second and Wall, and yell, "Murder!" "police!" for some time before an officer showed up.

President Lincoln's Youngest Boys.
During the first year of the administration the house was made lively by the games and pranks of Mr. Lincoln's two younger children, William and Thomas; Robert, the eldest, was away at Harvard, only coming home for short vacations. The two little boys, aged 8 and 10, with their western independence and enterprise, kept the house in an uproar. They drove their tutor wild with their good natured disobedience; they organized a minstrel show in the attic; they made acquaintance with the office seekers and became the hot champions of the distressed.
William sickened and died in February, 1862. His father was profoundly moved by his death, though he gave no outward sign of his trouble, but kept about his work the same as ever. His bereaved heart seemed afterward to pour out its fullness on his youngest child. "Tad" was a merry, warm blooded, kindly little boy, perfectly lawless and full of odd fancies and inventions, the "chartered libertine" of the executive mansion.
He ran continually in and out of his father's cabinet, interrupting his gravest labors and conversations with his bright, rapid and very imperfect speech, for he had an impediment which made his articulation almost unintelligible until he was nearly grown. He would perch upon his father's knee, and sometimes even on his shoulder, while the most weighty conferences were going on. Sometimes escaping from the domestic authorities he would take refuge in that sanctuary for the whole evening, dropping to sleep at last on the floor, when the president would pick him up and carry him tenderly to bed.—Col. John Hay in Century.

Sleep.
What sleep is no one knows. The prevailing theory as to its nature is that of the physiologist Preyer, who holds that refuse matter accumulates in the nervous centers in such quantities as to bring about insensibility, which continues until the brain has been relieved of the waste matter by its absorption into the circulation. Whatever feats of endurance men may accomplish they cannot live long without sleeping. Under every condition of bodily and mental suffering men sleep. Those condemned to die, although they fear their fate, generally sleep the night before execution. Soldiers have been known to sleep when on a long and wearisome march while walking in the ranks, or lying on a bed of stones, or in the mud and water.
The question is often asked, "How long can a man live without sleep?" The victim of the Chinese "waking torture" seldom survives more than ten days. Those condemned to die by the waking torture are given all they wish to eat and drink, but sleep is denied them.
Whenever the poor victim closes his eyes he is jabbed with spears and sharp sticks until he is awake. There is no torture more horrible.—Youth's Companion.

Crabs' Eyes for Acid Stomachs.
Crabs' eyes are employed to some extent as a remedy for acid stomachs. They are not actually the eyes of the crab, but simply small concretions of lime found in the stomachs of crayfish at the time when they are about to cast their shell and make new ones. It is supposed that these concretions are designed by nature to provide material for the new shells. At all events, having been deposited originally by animals, they are more readily absorbed into the human system. Before being administered as medicine they are pulverized.
Oyster shells are used in precisely the same way and for the same purpose, being prepared preliminarily by washing and pulverizing. The pulverized shells are placed in solution in water, the heavier and coarser particles falling to the bottom. By pouring off the solution thus obtained and permitting it to precipitate such fine particles of lime as it still retains, an exceedingly refined deposit is at length secured. Cuttlefish bones, from the sepia fish of commerce—the same that are used for canary birds—are ground up and used in the same fashion and to serve a like medicinal usefulness.—Washington Star.

A Jumping Alligator.
Simon Wise, one of the most truthful and matter of fact negroes in Coffee county, was in the city and he related the story of an incident which came under his observation only a few days ago. Here it is just as he related it:
"I see er stanin slder Mud crik watchin fer ducks. I hed my ole musket filled haff full er buckshot.
"I waited an' waited, an' no duck come yit. I got kinder restless like, an' uz jess fixin' ter be gwine when I heerd er terrubel scramblin' in de trees, and fust thing I know'd down come big red fox squirrel. He runned down 'bout ten foot from de groun' an' stop an' bark.
"After while I seed er big rusty yaller-gator poke up he hed outer de crik and lissen.
"De squirrel keep barkin' loud ez he cud, an' lookin' de yaller-gator right in de eye. De 'gator walled he eye at de squirrel an' den he tuck down he hed, and he back back twel he tail stick out on de dry groun'. Den all of a sudden dat 'gator fotch er jump an' went clar light er cross de crik an' cotch dat squirrel in he mouf."
—Americus Recorder.

A Pirate Bird.
Ex-Governor William G. Sterett, of Dallas, Tex., says: While on a fishing and hunting expedition on the Atlantic coast in North Carolina my attention was attracted by the shrill and frantic cries of a sea gull. As I looked upward I saw a bird resembling a hawk strike the gull under its claws, when down came a fish and the pirate bird after it. The fish had not gone ten feet before the pirate bird had it in his stomach. Then he soared upward with lightning rapidity, and descending equally as quick struck the screaming gull on its back with such force that the contents of its stomach were forced out of its mouth, and the pirate caught it in the air as it fell. At this point I took aim at the pirate with my shotgun and brought him down.
—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A wagon loaded with hay went up Cass avenue the other day followed by a wagon loaded with brick. The horses attached to the latter were eating their fill of hay. Behind and attached to the brick wagon was a cart heaped with kindling wood, which two Polish boys had gathered. Attached to this cart was the two wheeled rig of a banana peddler, and all three were jogging along in peace and goodfellowship. This is a world in which all should try to help one another.—Detroit Free Press.

MADDENED BY GRIEF.
A Mother Whose Son was Killed by Cars Loses Her Reason.
LAPORTE, Ind., Feb. 5.—A sad case of insanity has come to light at Frankfort, Ind. Several months ago a son of Mrs. Austin met death in a railroad accident, and his mangled remains were sent home for burial. Yesterday Mrs. Austin visited an undertaker and pleaded with tears in her eyes for one look at the lifeless remains of her son.
On being refused she started for the cemetery, and when found, several hours later, was bereft of her reason and madly insane, crying in her delirium that her only boy had been buried alive.
On the grave was found a package containing bandages with which the poor woman proposed to dress the injuries of the boy.

Latest From the Strip.
ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Feb. 5.—Professor Coppeck, superintendent of the Choleco Indian schools, received the following message from Indian Commissioner Morton Tuesday: "Information has been received here that cattlemen and settlers proposed to enter the Cherokee outlet. Give public notice that all intruders will be ejected. Keep me advised of any intrusion." The soldiers have been out of the strip for nearly a month, but a large detachment has left Ft. Reno to reoccupy the lands with orders to eject the boomers now in the strip and keep everybody out.

Burglars Commit Murder.
CLARKES, Neb., Feb. 5.—Parker Cowles' house was entered by burglars yesterday morning. Mr. Cowles was knocked senseless and his wife killed. The burglars secured $50 in cash. A reward of $1,000 has been offered for their arrest.
